TCL Signs Multi-Year License Deal for Rovi Entertainment Discovery Patent Portfolio

San Carlos, Calif., September 7, 2016 — Rovi Corporation (NASDAQ: ROVI) today announced the company has signed an intellectual property (IP) license agreement with TCL, the leading consumer electronics enterprise in China and the third largest TV manufacturer in the world. The multi-year deal will enable TCL to ship televisions in Europe, which feature advanced entertainment discovery technologies based on Rovi’s intellectual property (IP).

“Leading brands around the world license Rovi patented technologies to enable next-generation entertainment experiences to viewers,” said Samir Armaly, executive vice president of IP and licensing, Rovi. “Signing TCL, a major consumer electronics company headquartered in China, underscores the significance of Rovi’s patent portfolio and we are pleased to be working with TCL to give their European customers the ability to find, access and enjoy their favorite entertainment content.”

Rovi’s quarter-century of investment in research and development has enabled it to generate one of the world’s leading media and entertainment patent portfolios. The company’s commitment to innovation enables the delivery of products that touch practically every aspect of consumers’ day-to-day interaction with their entertainment, and helps licensees build customized next-generation digital entertainment solutions for users around the globe.
